SLIGO JAZZ

19—24
JULY
2022

THOMAS CONNOLLY

Markievicz Road & Holborn Street

Best wishes to Sligo Jazz Festival from Paul & the team

There will be hugs! - I have been looking forward to saying this for a long time: Sligo Jazz Project's Festival and Summer School is finally back up and running in 2022, after two years of tragedy, difficulty and uncertainty throughout the world. As with every year, we have so many musical treats in store, with the added empathy overload that our core audience of jazz loving summer school participants brings to Sligo's venues every time.

Our Artist-in-Residence this year is award-winning UK composer and bandleader Nikki Iles. We have assembled an all-star jazz orchestra for her performance on Thursday 21 July which like many of our events at Sligo Jazz each year, gives it that familiar one-off appeal. It highlights the return of guitarist Mike Walker, who last time round was a member of the band in residence, jazz supergroup "The Impossible Gentlemen", and for whom Nikki has written several pieces of music. Her husband Pete Churchill is here too, one of the UK's most celebrated jazz vocal educators and arrangers, so expect him to pop up where you'd least expect.

Our festival is a varied mix as always, from Norwegian jazz tubist Daniel Herskedal to NYC rising star Ashley Pezzotti and an all-star opening night treat with TRYPL and a stellar international rhythm section. Please read on and enjoy the week, it is always six days of equal measures of education, entertainment and inspiration!

Enjoy!

Eddie Lee
Artistic Director, Sligo Jazz Project

This year's festival is dedicated to the memory of Jim Meehan, RIP, Sligo Jazz Project Co-Founder.

StringTime

featuring Bjorn Solli (Nor)
& John Moriarty (Irl)

Our opening duo of this year's festival met at the final of the Montreux Jazz Festival Guitar Competition in 2006. Björn Solli and John Moriarty have continued to play together since in various settings. Solli has played extensively in Norway with his own group Solid, as well as Seamus Blake, Aaron Parks and many others. John Moriarty is at the forefront of jazz guitar in Ireland, having performed with Louis Stewart from the early 2000s and currently in groups led by Richie Buckley as well as his own quartet. In this setting the guitarists explore well-loved standards as well as original arrangements and compositions.

With Guest: Phil Robson - guitar

TUESDAY 19 JULY

TRYPL is a UK-based Latin Jazz powerhouse outfit co-founded by the horn section of Trevor Mires, Ryan Quigley and Paul Booth. The sensational horn trio of first-call musicians on the London scene is joined by a crack Italian rhythm section of Federico Malaman, bass and Ricky Quagliato drums, plus percussionist Paul Clarvis (UK), keyboardist Tomasz Bura (Pol/UK) and guest soloist Phil Robson (UK/IE) on guitar.

Christine Tobin "Tower of Song" "One of the most gifted and original singer/songwriters in today's jazz world." BBC Music Magazine

Christine Tobin's "Tower of Song"

Christine Tobin - vocals

Phil Robson - guitar

Conor Murray - bass

David Lyttle - drums

Sligo Jazz Project welcomes the return of Dublin native Christine, an integral part of both the New York City and London jazz scenes for many years, who has recently returned to Ireland and now resides in Roscommon. "Tobin's 24 carat voice" was how The Guardian recently described her talents, praising her both for the poetry of her compositions and the warmth of her golden voice. Her 'Tower of Song' repertoire includes Tobin originals alongside striking interpretations of Leonard Cohen songs (for which she won a Herald Angel Award at the 2013 Edinburgh Festival) and much more. In 2012 she won a BASCA British Composer Award and in 2014 she was awarded "Jazz Vocalist of the Year" at the Parliamentary Jazz Awards. Earlier in her career Christine won "Best Vocalist" at the BBC Jazz Awards.

The Whispering Gallery Presents
Cathal Roche's 'Love of Moving Parts'

An Immersive music performance-installation for solo performer, community voices & woodwind octet.

Throughout lockdown composer and saxophonist Cathal Roche, feeling the need to talk, invited the people of Sligo to leave anonymous voice messages describing their experiences of discovery and loss during the pandemic. During the reopening of public spaces, The Model, Sligo, invited people to visit and record their voices in person.

One such visitor was Ken Roht, an actor from the US, who began hosting groups of friends back home online and emailing in voices of mostly sidelined performers experiencing another kind of hiatus.

The resulting collection of bits and scraps of transatlantic testimony from the last 2 years offers the listener a rainbow of moving voices, woven together.. pulled apart.. in search of music, love, healing and understanding.

Roche on 9 woodwind instruments (bass flute to baritone saxophone) plays counterpoint to feeling and leads when the words fail.

Love of Moving Parts for solo saxophone and multi-tracked ensemble takes place in a 32-speaker dome (low light) @The Nest, Sligo

Murray Brothers

Micheal Murray - saxophone

Conor Murray - bass

Phil Robson - guitar and special guest(s)

The list of Sligo Jazz Project summer school alumni grows each year, with so many of our past participants now working musicians on the jazz scene in Ireland and the UK. Two such individuals are on display today, in the intimate surrounds of Hargadons. The busy young musicians carving a great career in the jazz world in UK and Europe, are joined here by UK guitar virtuoso Phil Robson and perhaps a surprise guest or two.

£18/15conc./€9 u18s Booking: 071-9161518/www.hawkswell.com

Daniel Herskedal - tuba, bass trumpet

Eyolf Dale - piano

Helge Andreas Norbakken - percussion

Daniel Herskedal Daniel Herskedal is the enigmatic master of sound and sonorous beauty. His music ebbs and flows with utter grace and poise, perfectly fusing the spirit of jazz with the compositional craft of classical music. Seldom do you hear a musician with such depth, emotive intensity and virtuosity shine who is simultaneously pushing the boundaries of his instrument to the limit. Possessed with real melodic resonance, Daniel Herskedal is a hugely gifted and dynamic composer. His music breathes and is full of life. While his last 3 albums have earned him huge praise and adoring fans, this new music expands on the direction and takes influence from 'Mistral Noir', the opening track from his album 'Slow Eastbound Train', performed entirely solo, layering both tuba and bass trumpet in a both a mesmerising and sublimely beautiful way.

He is a composer of highly original, beautifully lyrical, rhythmically charged music inspired by the stunning Norwegian landscape and a world-class performer on Tuba, an instrument he has made uniquely his own. Daniel Herskedal's newest album Harbour cements his position as one the most exciting, prolific and inspiring musicians of his generation in Europe.

"Norwegian tuba player Daniel Herskedal is nothing short of a miracle, which is mainly brought about by his perfect mastery of the instrument. - Jazzzeno

Stuart Hall and Paul Clarvis (UK)

Stuart Hall - guitar and other instruments

Paul Clarvis - percussion

Stuart Hall is a multi-instrumentalist from the UK who has worked with Lol Coxhill, Human Chain, Django Bates, Steve Arguelles, Loose Tubes, Hermeto Pascoal amongst others. Paul Clarvis brings his unique style of musicianship to many genres and as one of the UK's most requested session musicians. His playing can be heard on literally hundreds of films including blockbusters like the Bond and the entire Harry Potter series. The list of artists he has worked with is a veritable 'who's who' in the music world – such as Wynton Marsalis, Mick Jagger, Nina Simone, Stevie Wonder, Steve Swallow, Sir John Dankworth, Paul McCartney, Brian Ferry and Elton John.

Stuart Hall - guitar
Conor Murray - bass
Scott Flanigan - piano

London-based first-call session musician Paul Clarvis and Cathy Jordan some years ago at Sligo Jazz Project and two have since collaborated on several projects which combine interpretations of jazz, folk and gospel classics. Better known as the voice of the legendary Irish folk Dervish, Jordan's gift for interpreting all genres of song and making it her own is common knowledge in the Sligo area and further afield. Her ability to make any song sound like a folk song is testament to a unique voice which goes unrivalled in modern folk music. With added jazz improvisations of Messrs Clarvis, Stuart Hall, Conor Murray and Dr. Scott Flanigan, and all we can say is expect the unexpected!

MBQ TRIO

Federico Malaman is an extraordinary Italian bass player with a very advanced technique. Federico's popularity on the web, thanks to his amazing virtuosity, innate empathy and communicative ability, has made him real star, establishing himself as a leading teacher and musician with over 78,000 subscribers on YouTube alone. He is joined in this unique one off performance (like so many Sligo Jazz events) by his compatriot, drum ace Ricky Quagliato on his return to Sligo and London Based keyboard virtuoso Tomasz Bura, a rising star on the London jazz fusion and funk scene.

FRIDAY 22 JULY

Ashley Pezzotti Quartet

Ashley Pezzotti - voice
John Goldsby - bass
Paul Clarvis - drums
Scott Flanigan - piano

Sligo Jazz is elated to welcome for the first time and hopefully not the last, a rising star of the New York jazz scene, a singer who represents the jazz vocal tradition with the elegance, rhythmic sense, and joy of her predecessors, Ashley Pezzotti is a new and exciting voice emerging from the New York jazz scene. She has performed and/or toured with jazz giants such as Wynton Marsalis and the Jazz at Lincoln Center Orchestra, as well as acclaimed trumpeter Arturo Sandoval and piano virtuoso Joey Alexander. She has performed at prestigious venues such as Birdland Jazz Club, Dizzy's Club, The Jazz Showcase, Jazz at Lincoln Center's Rose Hall, and the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts in Washington D.C. Don't miss this opportunity to catch her first ever Irish performance!

"Passionate... superb... heartfelt" – The Guardian

Tony Kofi is an award-winning British jazz saxophonist.

Today he presents the music of jazz legend Thelonious Monk, with the help of a stellar international line up of musicians.

A multi-instrumentalist born of Ghanaian parents, Tony plays Alto, Baritone, Soprano, Tenor saxophones and flute. Having 'cut his teeth' in the "Jazz Warriors" of the early 90's, has gone on to establish himself as a musician, teacher and composer of some authority. As well as performing and recording with Gary Crosby's "NuTroop" and "Jazz Jamaica", Tony's playing has also been a feature of many bands and artists he has worked/recorded with include "US-3" The World Saxophone Courtney Pine, Donald Byrd, Eddie Henderson, The David Murray Big Band, Sam Rivers Rivbe Big band, Andrew Hill Big Band, Abdullah Ibrahim, Macy Gray, Julian Joseph Big band, Harry Connick JR, Byron Wallen's Indigo, Jamaaladeen Tacuma's Coltrane Configurations and Ornette Coleman.

His fluent and fiery hard-bop style makes him constantly in demand.

He currently leads his own Tony Kofi Quartet, Portrait of Cannonball

(Music dedicated to Cannonball Adderley) Tony Kofi and the Organisation, a recent project which he co leads on the Baritone Saxophone, and is also the co-founder with Jonathan Gee of the Monk Liberation Front, a group that is dedicated to the music of Thelonious Monk.

SATURDAY 23 JULY

1.30pm The Dirty Jazz Club

Dublin band The Dirty Jazz Club have been an integral and underground part of the Irish jazz scene for over a quarter of a century. Formed during a time of economic growth in the late 90's, their name evoked corners of the capital untouched by leather sofas, the jazz brunch and Irish coffees. The group's first gigs were in an anarchist social centre where they provided an alternative focus for jazz listeners, where extended solos, group communication, human feeling and textural soundscape could breathe freely, through the music of John Coltrane, Wayne Shorter, Miles Davis and others.

After two and a half decades of performing before the interruption of lockdown, the group turned to the studio to create an album dedicated to Wayne Shorter. Each composition on The Shorter Perspective was arranged and performed with the band's unique improvisatory approach in mind. With 5 dates scheduled for this Summer, the group is now touring this work with the aim of further exploring the compositions and their own brand of invention.

"This is where you will find the core jazz principles of communication and interaction, with musicians comfortable enough to take risks and familiar enough to anticipate each other's next move." Cormac Larkin, The Irish Times.
